

What does the * thing mean in a formula

This question has jumped up a few times recently:

The * or asterisk in a formula means times or multiply.

So in the calibrated CLR formula, * 2.33 means; multiply by 2.33